"It is like a present. If we run into unforessen money from motor fuel tax or replacement tax, then we will have it." Salmond said.

Salmond faced opposition from Township Supervisor Christ Pashoff, who said he believed the additional money would come by taxing the citizens.

Salmond's attorney, Robert Matoesian, said, "We're trying to pad the budget, So, if next month we run into $5,000, we won't have to come back and amend the budget to $1,000 to verspending the budget; you have to amend the budget, So that's what he's, (Salmond) doing, and now they're objecting," Matoesian said.

After heated exchanges between Salmond and Pashoft, trustee Richard Paterson proposed an amendment to increase the budget to $01,500, but the $75,500 figure was approved.

This budget term will end March 25.

The highway should also spur intense commercial and industrial construction along its corridor, again increasing the village's tax-dition to providing more and diverse services to village residents. This construction will require careful planning and supervision by village officials.

In addition to planning for the future, we are trying to make residents' life a little easier now. I am working to cut the 5 percent utility tax for senior citizens in the short term and, eventually, for all village resident, the village levies only a .075 percent tax on property owners, a tax used solely for police protection. The utility tax is also used for police protection, but we feel property tax receipts are adequate to provide quality police for the near future.

These are but a few of the many projects the board has been and will be pursuing.

It should be noted that I have had a tremendous amount of help and coperation in these projects from the village staff and especially from our attorney, Keith Jenson, Chief of Police Chet Ballew, Village Clerk Mary Warren and the members of our annexation committee.

As always, we welcome the comments and input of village residents as we work to insure a prosperous future.

As mayor, I am confident the necessary groundwork is being laid.

A REMINDER FROM THE LAW TODAY

At a recent hearing before a panel of United States senators, numerous witnesses from in-surance companies, business and government blamed the cost of insurance on courts and juries. Typical of the testimony given was that of the president of the American Bus Association, who president of the American bus Association, who said that "the constant expansion of the definition of liability by judges and large awards by juries are major causes of the problem." What does all this mean? It means simply that you, the ordinary citizen who sits on juries, are being blamed for the problems of big business and insurance. Perhaps those people who are so willing to place the blame for their own woes on you would do well to heed the wisdom of the founding fathers, who saw fit to include the right to trial by jury in the Bill or Rights. After all, wouldn't you rather entrust the protection of your rights to those people who wrote our Constitution, and not to those whose primary goal is to make a profit?

We will be discussing this and other topics on Tuesday night's program.

Kaskaskia too much for Stars

was a case of your best being

It was a case of your best being not quite good enough. The Granite City Campus basketball team journeyed to Kaskaskia Thursday to face one of the better and although the store national although the store of the period with their best effort of the year, according to Coach Terry Collins, it wasn't close to being a win.

Kaskaskia won, 78-63, behind the deadly duo of Richard Ramey and Mike McCraeven. The pair combined for 52 points in dropping the Stars' record to 5-4 on the year. "We played, by far, our best game of the season," said Collins. "And we still got beat by 15 points. That tells you something about them." Kaskaskia 'finished seventh in the nation among junior college teams last year and is highly-ranked this

NEW YORK — Terry Dutko, Granite City's all-state goalkeeper, has been named Gatorade's Circle of Champions High School Soccer Player of the Year from Illinois. Dutko, a senior, joins athletes from 47 other states and the District of Columbia in winning this/honor. The awards were co-sponsored by Gatorade and Scholastic Coach magazine.

Regional award winners' schools will receive a $500 donation to the school's general scholarship fund in the winning athlete's name. National award winners school will scason as well.

McCraeven, an All-American last year, pumped in 24 points from his guard position, while Ramey, a forward from Fresno, Calif., had a game-high 28.

McCraeven is a legitimate All-McCraeven, Collins said. "I think both can," Collins said. "I think material."

Despite all of the

Despite all of that, the Stars hung tough. They were within three points, at 41-38, with 14 minutes to go.

"But we stopped executing our man-on-man offense." Collins said.
"That was because of their defense.
We really didn't start doing anything differently, but they adjusted."

also receive a $500 general scholar-ship donation.

The statewide winners represent the initial honorees of the Gatorade award. Winners will be presented a special plague commemorating the occasion.

Dutko and the other 47 players

Dutko and the other 47 players were chosen based on a extensive selection process which included input from coaches, voting by a national panel of regional advisers representing newspapers from around the country and a national committee assembled by Scholastic Coach magazine.

On the season, Dutko posted 13 shutouts. He was named to the all-sectional team and voted the top goale in the state.

Dutko is the son of Terry and Judy Dutko of Granite City.

"We really frayed well on defense and rebounded very well," Collins said. "They just have very good balance. They're not exceptionally quick or big, but they shoot very well. They do a lot of things we chool very well. They do a lot of things we will they be they well they do not be they well th
